ABOUT THE SEMINAR

The National Seminar on Civil Rights Protection for Transgender Individuals aims to enhance our grasp of the obstacles, biases, and infringements on transgender rights. It also intends to provide a platform for the exchange of research, the promotion of informed dialogues, and the deepening of our insight into the distinctive challenges that transgender people face in their quest for civil rights. Through the amalgamation of diverse perspectives, we aspire to raise awareness and foster the creation of a more inclusive and fair society where all individuals, regardless of their gender identity, can exercise their civil rights without experiencing discrimination or prejudice. This will contribute to a world that is more just and compassionate. Topics of discussion may encompass safeguarding against discrimination, marital rights, transgender political representation, and healthcare protection.
